CROWN PRINCE DENIES THAT HE IS "FIRE EATER"

Grants Interview and Defines German Idea of Victory

FEELS EFFECT OF ENTRY OF AMERICANS IN THE WAR

But They Do Not Know What They Are Fighting For

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Amsterdam, Sept. 4.—The German idea of victory as defined by the German crown prince, in an interview published in the Budapest Az Est, is an intention "to hold our own and not let ourselves be vanquished."

The crown prince is quoted as saying that this is clear to him, the moment England entered the war.

The crown prince denied that he was a "fire-eater" and continued: "If Germany had wanted war we should not have chosen this moment. No moment could have been more unfavorable for Germany."

In reply to the question as to how he thought the end of the war would come, he replied: "Through the enemy perceiving that they are not equal to the winning of their colossal stake, and that they can not win as much as they are bound to lose."

In discussing the present operations on the western front, the crown prince said:

"The enemy attacks and the withdrawal on our front at several places is often wrongly interpreted in some circles. Some of our people are too accustomed to a continuous advance and when a battle occurs wherein the enemy makes attacks and we have to defend ourselves the situation is not always correctly understood. They judge the situation, both military and political, we must never forget one thing—that we are waging a war of defense. The war is one of annihilation only for the enemy, not for us. We want to annihilate none of our enemies. We mean, however, to hold our own."

Regarding the American forces in France the crown prince said: "I've found that the majority don't know what they are fighting for, but we feel, of course, the effect of the entry of the Americans. They have sent over very much material and now are sending very much human material."

"We speak openly of victory," the crown prince said. "The word victory must not be understood to mean that we want to annihilate the enemy, but only that we mean to hold our own and not let ourselves be vanquished. The moment England entered the war that was clear to me and I always emphasized it."

When the interviewer remarked that the crown prince was considered abroad as a "fire-eater," he answered:

"I am aware of these accusations. Do I need to say that not a word of them is true?"

Reverting to the question of what nation wanted the war, he declared that "it was clear that England would take advantage of the opportunity."

Belgium after all was only a pretext, he continued. "England intervened because German competition was unbearable."

"We are fighting for our existence. I repeat our aim, therefore, only to safeguard ourselves."

The enemy assaults doubtless will continue for some time," the crown prince said, with reference to the fighting on the western front, "but our enemies must themselves see that they will not be able to attain their aim. Our troops are fighting splendidly and I attribute to their courage the fact that such colossal superiority in strength does not crush us."

Discussing the fighting qualities of Germany's enemies he said:

"The French fight brilliantly and are bleeding to death. They do not hesitate at any sacrifice. With the English the individual man is very good and tenacious but the leadership is deficient. Among the Americans I've found that the majority do not know what they are fighting for. I asked an American prisoner what they were fighting for and he answered: 'For a sack,' and to the question: 'Where is Alsace?' he replied: 'It's a big cake.'"

DIES A VICTIM OF DIPHTHERIA; TWO SISTERS ILL

George Everett Richerick, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Richerick, died of diphtheria at his home north of St. Louis, Tuesday afternoon. Two sisters, Edith, aged 16, and Sarah, aged 10, who are also suffering with diphtheria are improved today. The three children were taken suddenly ill with the disease on Saturday and death came to George after the illness of only a few days.

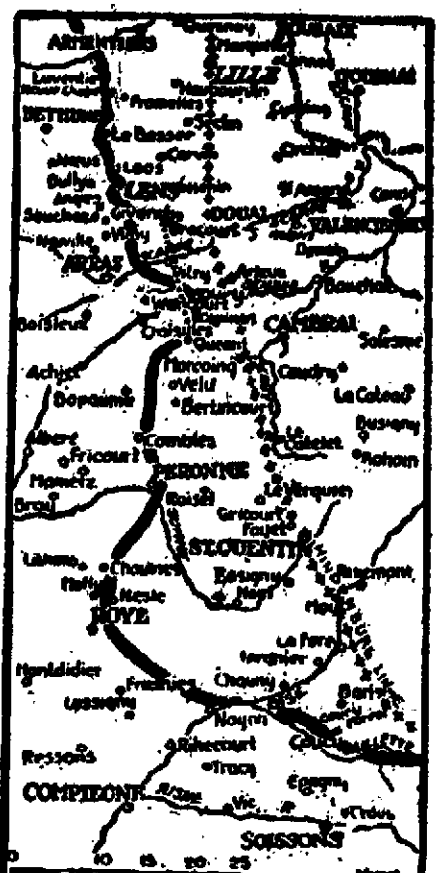

He is survived by his parents, three brothers and six sisters. The funeral will probably be held Thursday morning and burial will be made at Martinsburg.

WAITING FOR THE MYSTERIOUS ARMY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London (via Montreal, Sept. 4).—Today there was still no sign of the expected German counter-stroke on the western front which must soon be delivered if General Ludendorff wishes to save the situation.

Prisoners speak of a great mysterious army headed by General von Mackensen, which is ready to pounce on the allies, but its whereabouts is unknown.

DROCOURT-QUEANT LINE GIVES WAY

The Drocourt-Queant switch line, which is in reality a part of the famous Hindenburg line, and which was believed to be impregnable, has given way before the victorious British, who have captured Queant, southeast of Arras.

GUY F. CHILCOTE COVERED WITH DIRT BY GERMAN SHELL

Guy F. Chilcote, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Chilcote of this city, is having a hand in the great allied offensive in France and according to a letter just received by Mr. Chilcote the young man has had a remarkable experience.

Writing under date of July 17th Mr. Chilcote says in part: "The big drive is on and we are doing our bit along with the rest. Your letter of June 16 arrived several days ago and I had hardly finished reading it when things broke loose. We were called out of bed and went to our guns on the run. We fired all night and all the next day and the following two days we have fired at frequent intervals."

I suppose you will think it strange that I speak of being on the guns, so will explain. I am no longer mess sergeant. Sometime ago I came to the conclusion that I would like to take a more active part in this old fight so I asked permission of Capt. Miller to be relieved of that duty and placed on a gun squad, which he did. It is much harder work but I find more pleasure doing it than I do the other.

I now know what it is to be under shell fire. A high explosive shell hit about 20 yards in front of our gun pit and threw a shower of dirt all over us. Another hit directly in our rear and we were covered with dirt. The next one would light but they ceased firing for a time and when they opened up again they did not come nearly so close. It gave us all a thrill for a few minutes but we had soon forgotten all about it. Then we are busy firing we don't have time to think of what is going on around us."

At this point Mr. Chilcote was interrupted by the call of "action" and he did not have an opportunity to resume his letter for three days. Continuing:

After we had finished firing and clearing our gun and pit we fell out and got some sleep. Then as soon as we had some rest an order came down to move so we hit the road for a few hours and finally hit a nice little grove where we now are.

I understand that we did very good work; in fact, so good that we received regimental mention. It has been reported that we annihilated a whole German division. It is an absolute certainty that the German drive was a complete failure for we dealt them a crushing defeat.

Fifty-four German prisoners passed here yesterday and they were a sorry looking bunch and most of them were very young. The Germans drive was very hard pressed and they were pulling off some stunts that are very inhuman. They make a practice of bombing our hospitals but the other day they pulled a rich one, bombed a German prisoner camp and killed about 400 of their own men. Another day they pulled was taking a machine gun out in No Man's Land. Two Germans, dressed as Red Cross men, started out bearing a litter, presumably loaded with wounded men. On reaching the middle of No Man's Land they turned in a shell hole and uncovered the litter upon which was mounted a machine gun. But with their dirty tricks they couldn't gain any ground. I think the Allies now realize that the Americans are some scoundrels, even though they are on the whole a younger bunch than the Allies."

"Received a letter from Jess today. He is pretty lucky at present, being located in a fair-sized city where he can live like a white man. He says he is feeling fine. Says he hasn't received any mail with the exception of my letters, for over a month."

Having no opportunity to post the letter until July 23, Mr. Chilcote added this postscript:

"Have been carrying this letter around with me all the while and this is my first opportunity to mail it. From now on you will probably not hear from my letters as often, so don't worry if my letters are rather irregular. Have been pretty much on the jump the past two weeks. The Germans are retreating and we are driving them. I have seen some things and been through some that I will never forget. Will explain with some details when I have more time. Am in excellent health and feeling fine. Love to all."

Mr. Chilcote's address is Guy F. Chilcote, Battery A, 15th F. A. American Expeditionary Forces, A. F. O. No. 715, France.

Even war has its comedies. If you read the German official reasons for the retreat.

EMBARKATION OF AMERICANS OVER 1,600,000

This Includes Expedition Which Has Been Sent To Siberian Front

GEN. MARCH STATES 250,000 SENT OVERSEAS LAST MONTH

Yankees Have Participated In the Recent Hard Fighting

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Sept. 4.—General March announced today that the total embarkation of American soldiers for all fronts, including the Siberian expedition, had passed the 1,600,000 mark August 31.

The chief of staff identified the American unit which participated in the Flamar advance as the 30th division composed of troops from Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The French advance, north of Soissons, resulting in the capture of Terency-Sorny was participated in by the 32nd division, composed of Michigan and Wisconsin troops, under Major General Haan.

In answer to a question, General March said, it was estimated that more than 250,000 had landed in France during August. The record for a monthly shipment, he added, was 285,000.

Taking up the military situation, General March said the object of the Canadian drive across the old Queant-Drocourt was Cambrai which was now within 7 1/2 miles of the British advance, according to official advice.

In the action, east of Arras, General March said, the British had crossed the so-called Hindenburg line on an eight-mile front. He added that the maximum advance of the British since the drive started in Picardy and extended northward was 14 miles.

On the Flanders front General March said, the enemy was retiring without every severe pressure being brought upon him and the Flanders salient already had been blotted out.

The chief of staff pointed out that the main resistance to the allies advance all along the line had been encountered by the British on the Scarpe sector. The rapid French advance, south of that sector, he added, was largely due to British successes in overcoming this resistance. This was shown clearly when the French advanced between six and 10 miles on a 20-mile front in one day, south of the Somme.

The enemy made efforts to hold the French along the line of the Canal du Nord, but the French have crossed the canal in several places.

In the sector, north of Soissons, French and American troops are advancing steadily against a stiffening resistance the latest official advice to the war department show.

Turning to questions asked about the various American units, General March said the 39th division, composed of Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana troops was now in process of landing in France, while the 36th division, composed of Texas and Oklahoma troops, was completing its embarkation. The 35th division, composed of Missouri and Kansas troops, is stationed in the Vosges. The 27th division, composed of New York troops, is still training with the British in Flanders, and General March said the identified divisions engaged with the British at Mount Kemmel indicated that the 27th had not been involved in that fighting.

The total number of wounded and sick returned to the United States from the 102nd infantry regiment, General March said, was 720 of that number 27 having been sent back during August. The regiment is composed largely of Connecticut troops and reports have been in circulation that its losses have necessitated the withdrawal of the regiment and complete reorganization.

General March did not know who had been assigned by General Pershing to command the 30th division, which went over under Major General George W. Read, who has since been assigned to command the 4th army corps.

FIRST GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES IS POSTPONED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Chicago, Sept. 4.—The first of the world's series baseball games between Chicago, champions of the National League, and Boston recent winners of the American League, was called off today because of a steady rain which, falling for hours showed no signs of cessation. In addition the weather was so unsettled that continuation of the game was impossible.

Fair weather is predicted tomorrow and the diamond is being protected by heavy canvas.

There were comparatively few persons at the ticket windows early and the postponement did not come as a surprise.

ONLY OCCUPY A PART OF TOWN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, Sept. 4.—Information from the front today is that the coal mining city of Lens is still mainly in German possession. British patrols, however, are reported to be in the western portion of the town.

There were wide spread reports yesterday that Lens had been evacuated by the Germans and occupied by the British. These reports emanated from an authoritative source in London and were generally accepted as correct, until the receipt of last night's official British communication, which failed to confirm them.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer of Cincinnati have sent six sons to aid America in the fight for democracy. And these proud parents are going after the Kaiser both ways. Three of the boys joined the army and three in the navy. The parents came from Alsace-Lorraine.

WOMEN VOTE FOR FIRST TIME IN STATE PRIMARY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, Sept. 4.—With women voting for the first time in a statewide primary, the organization candidates of both parties were almost uniformly successful yesterday. The vote generally was light and no analysis was available early today which show the division of the vote between the sexes, but the granting of political equality resulted in nothing revolutionary.

On the face of incomplete returns the victory of Governor Charles S. Whitman over Attorney General Martin E. Lewis was even more of a landslide than it appeared early in the returns. The figures were: Whitman, 197,427; Lewis, 79,669—117,758 out of 573,155.

Alfred L. Becker, deputy attorney general, who sought the nomination for attorney general, made the best showing of any of the anti-organization candidates, but was defeated by Senator Charles D. Newton. Becker appealed to the Republicans of the state, with the endorsement of Theodore Roosevelt, as the nemesis of German plotters and propagandists. The vote from 333 districts was: Newton, 38,305; Becker, 75,554.

Alfred E. Smith, president of the board of aldermen of New York City, snatched under William Church Osborn, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, with 14,000 votes, missing Mr. Smith's vote was 149,408, and Osborn's was 20,148. Osborn ran independently without organized support. The Democrats had no other contest for state offices.

With several districts in doubt the Republicans nominated 65 assemblymen, and the Democrats 28. Two women were selected by the Republicans and 11 were nominated by the Democrats.

AMERICAN FORCES ON RUSSIAN FRONT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Sept. 4.—Arrival of Major General William S. Graves and his staff at Vladivostok to take command of all American forces fighting on the new Russian front was announced today by General March.

General Graves took with him from the United States forty-three officers and 1,238 men who will join the regiment from the Philippines already on the ground.

PHILIPIN DEFEATED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Milwaukee, Wis. Sept. 4.—On the face of returns received from about one-half of the state early today, Senator Roy D. Wood has defeated Governor E. L. Phipps for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the primary election held yesterday. While the lead of Wood over Governor Phipps is narrow, the former's managers claim that when the final returns are in he will be the victor by a safe plurality.

CONFESSES THEY PLANNED TO TAKE THE FORD MACHINE

Willis Fulton, who was arrested Monday charged with complicity in the theft of the Ford automobile belonging to C. D. Hughes of Vanatta, has been bound over to the common pleas court in the sum of $1000.

It is charged that Fulton was connected with George Thompson, who was recently arrested, in the theft of the car and it is stated that Fulton today confessed to Chief Sheridan that he and Thompson planned to take the machine.

GERMANS RETIRE FROM VESLE REGION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, Sept. 4 (1:30 p.m.).—The Germans are contemplating a general retirement from the Vesle region where they have been facing the Americans and French along the river, according to indications reported from the battle front today. The recent Franco-American successes in the south apparently have prompted such a move.

CONDITION OF LENINE SERIOUS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, Sept. 4.—The condition of Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, against whose life an attempt was made last Friday, has become highly critical, according to a dispatch from Moscow to the Central News agency. The crisis is expected within three days. Surgeons have removed a bullet from Lenin's body.

GERMANS RETREATING EAST OF CANAL DU NORD

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) With the French Army in France, Sept. 4.—(12 noon).—The Germans are in retreat on the French front east of the Canal du Nord. French cavalry was in pursuit during the night and this morning had pushed to within two miles of Guisancourt on the Noyon-Ham road.

FIERCE BATTLES TAKING PLACE ALONG AISNE AND VESLE, FRENCH CROSSING LATTER RIVER

Over 1,500 Prisoners Taken Last Night and Enemy Was Driven Back East of Canal du Nord and Between the Ailette and the Aisne—British Wedge Which Has Been Driven Into German Defenses Between Railway Centers of Douai and Cambrai is Menacing to the Enemy Who Must Soon Stop British if He Would Save These Bases.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Paris, Sept. 4.—French troops yesterday, and last night, continued to push back the Germans to the west of the Canal du Nord and between the Ailette and the Aisne, says today's war office announcement.

In their advance the French took the Chapelle wood, northeast of Chevilly and approached the town of Crisilles, three miles north of Noyon.

North of the Ailette the French reached the outskirts of Coucy-le-Chateau and Juvencourt and south of the river they drove further east from Leuilly and attained the suburbs of Clamecy and Braye.

On the Aisne the town of Biely-Long was penetrated. Prisoners to the number of 1,500 were taken. Along the Vesle, parties of French troops crossed the river at several points.

The statement reads: "Yesterday during the day and night the French continued to press back the enemy east of the Canal du Nord and between the Ailette and the Aisne."

"French troops captured the Chapelle wood, northeast of Chevilly and further south French elements advanced, pursuing the enemy and are approaching Crisilles."

"North of the Ailette the French carried their lines to the western outskirts of Coucy-le-Chateau and Juvencourt. To the south the French progressed east of Leuilly and reached the outskirts of Clamecy and Braye and penetrated Biely-Long. The number of prisoners taken in that region exceeded 1,500."

"On the Vesle front French elements crossed that river at several points."

GERMANS IN FULL FLIGHT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) With the British Armies in France, Sept. 4. (noon).—British troops were reported this morning to have taken the town of Moeuvres, 3 1/2 miles southeast of Queant, but the capture of the place has not been confirmed.

The Germans are in full flight in the region of the Canal du Nord and appear to have abandoned several thousand prisoners taken yesterday by Field-Marshal Haig's forces.

BRITISH MAKE PROGRESS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, Sept. 4.—(1 p.m.).—The British have secured a hold on the Canal du Nord by taking Rimacourt, to the north of Sains-Lez-Marquion, according to advices from the battlefield today.

Further south along the canal they are reported to have captured Inchin-Artois, Domcourt, to the east of Doignies and Hermies, three miles northeast of Bertincourt.

Near the Somme the British, the advices state, have crossed the canal at Haut Allaines, slightly more than two miles north of Peronne.

From Hermies southward the British line is indicated as running to the west of Ruysaucourt, a mile and a half east of Bertincourt.

Midway between Nieppe and Sully in the Lys salient the British have captured the village of Croix du Bac.

Since the opening of the combined Franco-British operations August 8, no less than 97 German divisions have been engaged on the battlefield.

BRITISH PUSH TOWARD CAMBRAI

(Compiled from A. I. Dispatches.) The British have driven home their push through the Wotan line as far as the Canal du Nord and as yet their progress is not reported checked.

Already the wedge they have driven into the German defenses in the sector between the railway centers of Douai and Cambrai is a menacing one to the enemy who must stop the British on the canal line here if he hopes to save these bases—vital points in the German defensive system in the west.

Disorganization in the German ranks is reported in unofficial advices from the front, however, and there seems to be more than a possibility that the enemy command will not be able to reconstitute its defenses in the sector in time to hold up the British temporarily along the canal position.

The main force of the British push seems to be in the direction of Cambrai, along both the Bapaume-Cambrai and Arras-Cambrai roads, and in the terrain lying between these highways. In this area they are reported today to have captured the towns of Inchin-Artois and Moeuvres. This represents an advance of between 3 1/2 and four miles yesterday.

Further south the British likewise have reached the line of the canal down to the Somme, making their front along this artificial waterway to cover an extent of more than 20 miles. As a matter of fact they are reported to have crossed the canal along its southern length, just to the north of Peronne.

The menace to both Cambrai and Douai may be indicated by the fact that the British are within 5 1/2 miles of the outskirts of the former and not more than two miles from the Bourlon wood position, where General Ivimey was temporarily anchored in his drive at Cambrai last fall, marking what was virtually his nearest approach to the city.

In Byng's drive, however, the British approached Cambrai on only a narrow front, whence a German counter-attack on the flank ousted them disastrously, where has a prison camp is on a far wider front and offering no apparent opportunity for an effective counter-blow, especially in the present reported state of German disorganization from the constant pounding of the enemy armies along the front from Rheims to Arras since mid-July.

To the north the Germans are still in retreat and the British have occupied additional towns in the Lys salient. The enemy's reported retirement in the sector south of La Bassée has

FINAL EFFORT TO PREVENT STRIKE STREET CAR MEN

Cleveland, Sept. 4.—W. S. Welch, of the executive board of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees in the city, today to enter upon negotiations with the Cleveland railway company in a final effort to prevent a strike of the car men.

The employees issued an ultimatum to the company yesterday that unless they promised by 2 o'clock this afternoon to withdraw women conductors pending an investigation of the shortage of man power, they would strike at midnight tonight.

Efforts to obtain federal intervention were made late yesterday. A. L. Faulkner, U. S. commissioner of conciliation, last night advised Secretary of Labor Wilson of the situation as it was reported tonight.

J. Stanley of the company and Mayor Harry L. Davis telegraphed the National War Labor Board an urgent appeal to take steps to prevent the strike.

CONSERVATION OF GERMAN WIDOWS

Amsterdam, Aug. 20.—Enactment of a law in Germany to prevent widows from remarrying so as to leave the few available men for single women is urged in a letter to the Tage by a Munich doctor, Hans von Hertig. He points out that the widows, through remarrying after the war, would have a detrimental effect on the birth rate, as most of them are mothers already.

"On December 1, 1910," he writes, "there were in Germany about 300,000 widows between the ages of 18 and 45. At a very modest estimate there are now 800,000."

DROWNS SELF IN OIL

Shawnee, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Everett Hunter, aged 40, pumper on the Carter oil lease, tried to commit suicide at home. His family interfered, when he ran away and drowned himself in a tank of oil. The body was found yesterday afternoon. He leaves a wife and five children.

London, Sept. 4.—American navy headquarters announced last night that nearly 260,000 men were transported during August. One third of this total was in American ships. During the second quarter of the year, the statement says, destroyers from one American base escorted 121 troop convoys, aggregating 773 ships, and 171 merchant convoys, consisting altogether of 1,063 ships.

GEORGE BOLTON FOUND DEAD BY NEAR NEIGHBOR

George Bolton, aged 45, was found dead at his home 122 South Sixth street, Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. The condition of the body indicated that he had been dead since Saturday night. Mr. Bolton, who engaged in extensive gardening, lived alone in South Sixth street. Tuesday evening Captain Matthew Fauser remembered that he had not seen Mr. Bolton for several days so with Mr. Ed. Sullivan went to his home nearby. He could not get in an unlocked over a window shade which did not reach to the top. He saw Mr. Bolton lying partly on the floor and partly on a lounge. An entrance was made by the neighbors and Mr. Bolton was found to be dead. Coroner W. L. Jackson was called and pronounced death due to apoplexy. It is thought Mr. Bolton was lying down Saturday night when the attack seized him and death resulted. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of C. T. Egan in East Main street. The funeral services were held this afternoon at St. Francis de Sales church and interment was made at Mt. Calvary cemetery. The nearest surviving relative is an aunt.

The Kaiser As I Knew Him For Fourteen Years

By ARTHUR N. DAVIS, D. D. S.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

CHAPTER III.

The Kaiser's Dual Personality.
If I had come away from Germany in January, 1914, instead of in January, 1918, and had written the impression I had gained of the Kaiser in the ten years I had known him, what a false picture I would have painted of the man as he really is!

It would have been a picture of a man who in general appearance and bearing was every inch an emperor and yet who could exhibit all the courtesy, affability and gentleness of the most democratic gentleman, a man soft of eye and kindly in expression, a man of wide reading and attainments—perhaps the most versatile man in the world, a man who possessed a most alert mind, a remarkable memory and the keenest observation; a man who was not generous in nature and yet was at times considerate of others; a man of charming personality and amiability. It would have shown a man of unparalleled egotism, a man who was impatient of correction and who would brook no opposition. There might have been in the picture a suggestion of the dire lengths to which the man would go to have his way, but it would have been only a suggestion.

As far as it went, the picture would have been accurate, but it would have been sadly incomplete—with all the lights worked in but lacking all the shadows.

It took the war and its attendant horrors to reveal the Kaiser in his true colors. The war did not change his character; it uncovered it.

Early in my practice I happened to mention to the Kaiser that I appreciated the friendliness he showed me in invariably waving his hand at me as he passed my window when walking along the Tiergarten.

"It's a good advertisement for you, Davis," he said. "The people see me waving to you and they know you must be a good dentist or I wouldn't come to you. It will help your business!" In every act, he was conscious of the public.

During that period of my career in Berlin, he showed the utmost interest in my progress and frequently inquired how my practice was developing.

The first bill I rendered him, as I have mentioned, he doubted. On a number of subsequent occasions, he paid me more than my bill called for. These overpayments never amounted to very much, but they impressed me because they were so out of keeping with the stinginess the Kaiser displayed in other directions.

From time to time the Kaiser sent or brought me autographed pictures of himself or others. At the time of the one hundredth anniversary of Frederick the Great, he gave me a picture of that monarch. On another occasion, he presented me with a group picture of himself surrounded by his family and dogs. I remember his bringing to me a large unframed picture in celebration of his silver wedding. It was about twenty-four by eighteen inches in size. It showed the Kaiser and himself in a sort of cloud floating above a birdseye view of Berlin, with the palace and the cathedral dimly seen below.

"I don't know just what this masterpiece was meant to signify, but I had it framed and placed it in my office. It evoked from a little boy who entered the room with his mother the following astonished remark: 'Oh, mother, look at the Kaiser in heaven!'"

A post-card picture of the Kaiser, signed by his own hand, was in his own estimation one of the most priceless gifts he could bestow. I remember his donating one of them to an American charity bazaar in Berlin to be auctioned off. He thought that the fact that the card came from his imperial majesty gave it a value which could not be measured in dollars and cents. A piece of jewelry or a sum of money might have been duplicated or even excelled by a gift of similar character from any American millionaire—for whose wealth the Kaiser frequently expressed the utmost contempt—but what could surpass the value of an autograph of the Kaiser!

No doubt the royal banquets were prepared much upon the same principle, for it was a common saying among the German aristocracy that one had better feel well before going to a banquet at the palace.

I happened to mention to the Kaiser the reputation his banquets held among his people. He was not at all taken aback.

"That's good!" he commented. "The Germans are too fat, anyway. The majority of the people eat too much."

Long after automobiling became more or less general, the Kaiser still employed a horse and carriage for ordinary travel, relying upon his free use of the railways for longer distances. When, however, the Reichstag passed a law compelling royalty to pay for their railroad travel, the Kaiser took to automobiles. They charged him 11,000 marks, he told me, for the use of a train on one of his shooting trips, and that apparently was more than he could stand.

"Autos are expensive," he declared, "but they don't cost me that much!"

The Kaiser speaks English with but the slightest trace of a foreign accent. His diction is perfect. He speaks French, too, very fluently, and I believe, Italian. He is widely read on almost all subjects and knows the literature of England, France and America as well as that of Germany. Mark Twain was one of his favorite American authors and Longfellow his choice of American poets. He prides himself on his acquaintance with history and has little respect for the political opinions of others whose knowledge of history is less complete.

Shortly after Carnegie had donated five million marks to Germany to further world-peace, I happened to be talking to the Kaiser of American millionaires and the steelmaster was mentioned.

"Of course, Carnegie is a nice old man and means well," remarked the Kaiser, condescendingly, "but he is totally ignorant of world history. He's just advanced us five million for world-peace. We accepted it naturally, but, of course, we intend to continue our policy of maintaining our army and navy in full strength."

Indeed, there is hardly any subject to which the Kaiser has devoted any considerable attention in which he doesn't regard himself as the final authority.

As an art collector and antiquarian he claims first place and he is rather inclined to feel that second place should be left vacant. He always resented very much the acquisition by American millionaires of art treasures and antiques which their wealth enabled them to buy, but which their limited acquaintance with history and their lack of culture and refinement made them unable to appreciate—in the Kaiser's estimation.

Of his own taste in art little need be said. The monuments which he caused to be erected to his ancestors and their advisors and which adorn the Sieges Allee, the street he had opened through the Tiergarten especially for them, are at the same time a monument to the Kaiser's ideas of art. They are the laughing-stock of the artistic world. They have been so frequently defaced by vandals whose artistic taste they offended that it was necessary to station policemen in the Sieges Allee to guard them. Not long ago a burglary occurred in the vicinity. The burglars were observed while at work and a startled civilian rushed to the Sieges Allee to summon one of the officers who were known to be on guard there.

"If you hurry," exclaimed the civilian, excitedly, "you can catch these burglars red-handed."

"I'm sorry," replied the policeman, "but I cannot leave the statues."

Realism is the Kaiser's idea of what is most desirable in dramatic art. When he put on "Sardanapalus," a Greek tragedy in pantomime, at the Berlin opera house, he sent professors to the British museum to secure the most detailed information available regarding the costumes of the period. Every utensil, every article of wearing apparel, every button, every weapon, in fact, every property used in the play were to be faithfully reproduced, particular pains being taken to produce a most realistic effect in a funeral pyre scene in which a king ended his life. The Kaiser sent me tickets to see it.

King Edward attended the performance at the Berlin Royal opera and I asked the Kaiser how the king of England enjoyed it.

"My gracious," the Kaiser replied, unable to repress his satisfaction at the effect the pantomime had had on his royal uncle, "why, the king was very much alarmed when the funeral pyre scene came on. He thought the whole opera house was on fire!"

Perhaps the Kaiser's love for details might be attributed to his keen observation. Nothing, no matter how trivial, escaped his attention.

A couple of years before the war I had the empire furniture in my waiting room reupholstered. On the very first occasion of the Kaiser's calling at my office after the change he noticed it. "My, my, how beautiful the chairs look!" he exclaimed. "Good enough for Napoleon himself!"

On another occasion, between two of the Kaiser's visits, I had had put up in the waiting room a new portrait of Mrs. Davis. The Kaiser noticed it the moment he came into the room and made some complimentary remark about it.

The Kaiser frequently accused the Americans of being dollar-worshippers and the English of being ruled by Mammon, but that he himself was not totally unmindful of the value and power of money was clearly revealed by the manner in which he catered to people of wealth in recent years.

The richest man in Berlin and one of the richest in Germany was a Hebrew coal magnate named Friedlander. The Kaiser ennobled him and made him Von Friedlander-Fuld. Another wealthy Hebrew to whom the Kaiser catered was Schwabach, head of the Bleichroeder bank, one of the strongest private banks in Germany, and he, too, was ennobled, becoming Von Schwabach.

A number of other wealthy Hebrews in Germany were also honored by the Kaiser in another way. Although he was averse to visiting the homes of private individuals who lacked social standing, he departed from his rule in their favor and visited their mansions ostensibly to view their art collections, but actually to tickle their vanity.

Shortly after Leishman became ambassador to Germany, the Kaiser called on me.

"Your new ambassador's daughter is the best looking young lady who has attended our court in many a day," he declared. "Half a dozen of my young staff officers are very anxious to marry her. Can you tell me, Davis, whether these Leishmans have money?"

If the Kaiser despised the American propensity for money-making, he was certainly not averse to acquiring American dollars.

He told me once that every trip the Hamburg-American liner Amerika made from New York to Hamburg resulted in transferring $150,000 from American to German pockets, and added: "We're mighty glad to get some of your American money, I can tell you."

Of the Kaiser's versatility I had convincing evidence. In his conversations with me we usually wandered from subject to subject in the most haphazard manner, and he invariably displayed a surprising store of information on every topic we touched, and I am not vain enough to believe that he was so anxious to make a favorable impression upon me that he prepared for these discussions in advance.

Indeed, the Kaiser discussed so freely almost every subject that suggested itself that I often wondered what his advisors would have said had they overheard our conversations. His readiness to talk to me was undoubtedly due to a tendency he had to trust every one with whom he came in intimate contact. For a man who was apt to have so many enemies, he was less suspicious than anyone I had ever met. He seemed to trust every one, and his sense of security unloosened his tongue and made him more talkative, perhaps, than was always discreet.

The Kaiser was very fond of listening to and telling stories with a point and would frequently invite me to tell him any new one that I might have heard. Some of the stories we exchanged were more or less risqué and would be out of place in these pages, but I do not mean to intimate that there was anything very much amiss with them. They always amused him very much and he was quick to catch the point.

The Kaiser's sense of humor frequently exhibited itself. He told me of a conference between representatives of all the powers regarding the selection of a king for Albania after the Balkan war. Some of those present thought the incumbent ought to be a Catholic, others insisted that a Greek Catholic was essential, still others maintained that a Mohammedan would be most logical.

It seemed quite impossible to come to any agreement as to just what religion the king of Albania should profess, and the Kaiser had ended the discussion, he said, with the suggestion: "Well, gentlemen, if a Protestant won't do, and a Roman Catholic won't do, and a Buddhist is out of the question, why not select a Jew and call him Jacob the First? He'll have his throat cut, anyway, in three months!"

The powers did not select a Jew, but the prince of Wied, the Kaiser's nominee, was put on the throne, and within a month or two afterwards had to flee for his life.

In referring to Roosevelt's patriotic offer to lead an army in France, the Kaiser declared that he admired him for his courage and zeal.

"I hear," he said, "that he is now on his way to Italy. It is too bad we did not postpone our offensive there. Perhaps we might have captured him. Wouldn't Teddy look funny in a gas mask?"

Shortly after the U-boat Deutschland made its successful trip to America, the Kaiser called on me, and he was in a very jocular frame of mind.

I happened to mention to him that I planned to go to America the following summer in connection with the porcelain tooth I had patented.

"Well, it won't be necessary now, Davis," he commented. "We can send the Deutschland over and bring back a boatload of teeth!"

"Fix my teeth well, Davis," he declared on another occasion, "so that I can bite. There are lots of people I would like to bite!" and he snapped his jaws together in a way that would have boded ill for the victims he had in mind, although his remark was evidently more facetious than vicious.

The courtesy and affability which the Kaiser almost invariably displayed in his relations with me did not prevent him on one occasion from showing his indignation when I touched him upon what was evidently a very sore point—the part that America was going to play in the war, although he always claimed to be unperturbed about the American situation. ## CAMP SHERMAN NOTES

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM.
Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., Sept. 4.—Scores of bundles of letters and cards at the Camp Sherman postoffice will never be delivered, because they are improperly addressed. Postmaster Charles Gregg said yesterday letters improperly addressed are being received at the rate of 25 a day.

Absent-mindedness has come marching into camp with the soldiers. Many of the envelopes are properly stamped but the address is missing. One soldier carefully marked his letter "Special Delivery" but that is as far as he got before the letter was dropped into the box.

Still another soldier apparently believed that the Camp Sherman postmaster should know where "Mrs. J. H. Williams, 115 Central avenue" could be located. And hundreds of similar letters are being received every week from soldiers wives, sweethearts, etc., addressed thus "John Doe." From the time Camp Sherman was opened a year ago up to July 1, soldiers stationed here sent out 8,050,000 letters and 500,000 parcels. Stamp receipts and money order business netted Uncle Sam $500,000. Stamp sales alone totaled $181,000.

WINNER OF WOMEN'S SWIMMING TITLE AND RIVAL SHE BEAT IN BIG CONTEST

Mrs. Claire Galligan Finney and Dorothy Burns.
Batting against a strong sea, Mrs. Claire Galligan Finney of New Rochelle won the 440-yard women's national championship off Brighton Beach recently. She was followed across the finishing line by Miss Dorothy Burns of Los Angeles and Miss Charlotte Boyle of Sea Gate.

She crossed the line twenty feet ahead of Miss Brown, who was ten feet ahead of Miss Boyle. The Sea Gate girl slowed down near the finish and did not touch the float for a minute after Mrs. Finney. The winner covered the 110-yard quarters in 1:37, 3:31, 5:21, 7:20.

GRANVILLE

Granville, O., Sept. 4.—Under the auspices of the A. F. W. of Granville, an afternoon meeting and supper will be held on the lawn of "Homestead farm," the hospitable home of Prof. and Mrs. Frank Ray on the Newark road, Thursday afternoon. This is in the nature of the social luncheons which proved so pleasant and so profitable last summer. A committee of a dozen women will furnish the repast, and the tickets are practically all disposed of, although Mrs. J. D. Thompson, head of the committee, may be able to locate a few extras. Prospective guests or patrons, are reminded of the necessity for providing their own equipment—plate, cup, dessert dish, flat ware, napkins and sugar for coffee. Come at 2:30 and stay as long as you will. Supper will be served at 5 or 5:30.

Address delivered by Dr. C. L. Williams, head of the department of English in Denison university, before the Alumni Society of Crozier Theological seminary, last May, on the topic: "What Literature in English Owe to the Bible," has been published and is to be used as a textbook in Denison university. Dr. Williams contends that "no one can know and enjoy English literature as it is, without knowing the Bible, and no one can know the Bible as it is, without knowing English literature."

Harry A. Eckhart, C. W. T. N. S. N., and Mrs. Eckhart, are the guests of Mrs. B. C. Ebbert. Mr. Eckhart, who has been in the navy for 15 years, has been on a torpedoed destroyer in European waters, and is now at home in Cleveland on a short furlough. Although a most interesting conversationalist, Mr. Eckhart declines to talk for publication as his extremely responsible position would make any public statement unwise.

Miss Bertha Frank, who spent her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Frank, Centerville street, has returned to New Paris where she holds a responsible position in the public schools.

Mrs. Frank Gildersleeve has returned to her home in St. Louis, Mo., after a visit at the home of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Frank.

Mrs. Clara T. Brumback, dean of Sheparson college, who has spent the summer in Evanston, Ill., has returned to Granville.

Miss Ella Houghton of Cleveland, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Kellogg, returned yesterday to her home.

Dr. Millard Bretford went to Kirkersville yesterday where he was on the program of the Columbus Baptist Association, now in session there. He will return on Thursday in time for the funeral services of Rev. H. H. Bawden.

The funeral of Rev. H. H. Bawden, whose death occurred early Tuesday morning, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the Baptist church. Dr. Millard Bretford officiating.

OBITUARY

Edmund L. Pine.
The funeral services of Edmund Lee Pine will be held at the East Main Street Methodist Church, Thursday at 2 o'clock, Rev. Emory J. Walters officiating.

Mr. Pine died at his home in Wing street Monday evening from apoplexy, after an illness of three days. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, one son, E. H. Pine of the home, three brothers, J. C. of Chatham, C. S. and S. O. of Newark; three sisters, Mrs. Mary J. Cochran, Mrs. Laura Hughes and Mrs. Annie Bates of Newark.

Miss Ethel Oxley.
Miss Ethel Oxley, aged 26 years, died at her home in Newcomertown, last night at 10:15, death resulting from a complication of diseases. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Oxley, three sisters, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Emma Frazier of Newcomertown, Mrs. Anna Burkhardt of Zanesville, and five brothers, C. J. Oxley of Marion, N. Y., I. M. Oxley, J. S. Oxley, C. H. Oxley and J. L. Oxley all of Newark and members of the firm of Oxley Brothers. The local store will be closed Thursday afternoon when the funeral will attend the funeral which will be held at Newcomertown at 1 o'clock.

THE ESTATE HOT STORM. "The Stove with a Furnace in it" is not a furnace, not a coal stove, but both combined in one. Clean, easily operated, heats surrounding rooms at even temperature, also the floor. With this wonderful stove you can heat an ordinary house with the same amount of coal other stoves will take for one room.

Guaranteed to Hold Fire 50 Hours

We are also showing complete line of ESTATE GAS HEATERS, RANGES, COPPER REFLECTORS and BATH ROOM STOVES.

If in doubt about gas heaters, buy the "ORIGINAL TRIPLE EFFECT," the King Gas Heaters. It also has furnace system of air circulation, more heat, less gas, no moisture.

The stove situation is serious, you can show patriotism no better way than by saving fuel.

If you own an ESTATE you will not only be warm but dollars ahead in your fuel bill.

Take time to look over this wonderful line which is a real pleasure to show you.

BIG DELEGATION WILL BE SENT TO ELK CONVENTION

An enthusiastic meeting of the lodge of Elks was held last evening and complete arrangements made to send a large delegation from this city to the meeting of the State Association of Elks, which will be held at Columbus, September 12-13-14.

Eight delegates and eight alternates were named as follows: James F. Irwin, Dr. C. D. O'Hara, Abe Thomas, W. W. Garl, Clem Cole, Clarence Place, Chas. Allen, James Schaller, Harry E. Bowman, Jas. R. Cooper, George Grazer, Byron Dickinson, Roy J. Vaughn, Edgar Fowler, Chas. H. Swank and R. F. Rhodes. These men, with all the past exalted rulers of Newark lodge, will be sent to the convention.

It is the intention, however, to send a delegation of over 100 Elks to the Thursday session of the convention. A large delegation will also be sent to the district headquarters will be open at the Deshler Hotel where rooms will be engaged to meet and entertain visiting brothers who may call. The rooms will be in charge of a reception committee at all times.

Delegates and alternates together with a number of past exalted rulers met last evening after the meeting and organized by selecting Jas. F. Irwin chairman of the delegation, and Jas. R. Cooper, secretary. The secretary and Frank S. Neighbor were appointed a publicity committee and an entertainment committee will be named later. George M. Penberg was named to assist in preparing the program.

Chas. W. Fairbanks of Marion, O., was endorsed as the delegates choice for state president. Mr. Fairbanks is secretary and treasurer of the Fairbanks Steam Shovel company, and at present is district deputy for the grand lodge. He is a young man with exceptional talents and ability and has a legion of friends in this city who will go to Columbus in the interest of his candidacy.

Wednesday evening at the state convention a parade of service flags will take place from the Elks home to the statehouse where patriotic addresses will be given. The Newark flag has 27 stars—that number of members in the service.

Thursday morning of the convention the election of officers will take place, to be followed in the afternoon by auto trips and a visit to the grand circuit. In the evening the annual ball and banquet will be given at the Columbus home.

Those who expect to attend will kindly notify Jas. R. Cooper, secretary of the delegation.

PUBLICITY FOR REGISTRATION DAY ASKED OF AD CLUB

T. L. Davies, Jr., president of The Newark Advertising Club, received a message Tuesday from Provost Marshal General Crowder requesting that all possible publicity be given the 18-to-45 draft registration which has been officially fixed for September 12. It is of the utmost importance that every man of the specified ages be notified of his duty to register, and Provost Marshal Crowder is calling to his assistance the services of the advertising clubs in getting notice of registration day to all concerned. Merchants can help by inserting a line in their advertising copy calling attention to registration day.

The message received by Mr. Davies follows: "Washington, D. C., Sept. 2. "T. L. Davies, Jr., President Advertising Club of the Chamber of Commerce, Newark, O.

"The date for the 18-to-45 draft registration is officially fixed as September 12. Undoubtedly you have received copies of the advertising bulletin poster and other literature sent you last week. Please see that the above official date is incorporated in any advertising or literature carried as a result of the plan formulated by the committee on public information and associated advertising agencies and clubs. Please get behind this campaign in your local community and adjacent territory and see that all possible publicity is given to this coming registration day as it is of utmost importance that every man of the specified ages be notified of his duty to register. Your immediate co-operation will be greatly appreciated.

"Provost Marshal General."

NOTED FLIERS COMING FOR THE BIG COUNTY FAIR

Two army airplanes will fly across country on Thursday of next week to visit the Licking county fair on patriotic day, and will give an exhibition of army maneuvers and show just what the burmen of Uncle Sam can accomplish.

Through the efforts of Congressman W. A. Ashbrook, assisted by Manager T. J. Appleyard of the Chamber of Commerce, the government officials have requested Colonel Thomas Duncan of the Wright Aviation field of Dayton, O., to send two of their best planes to Newark.

So interested is Colonel Duncan in the patriotic day that he will occupy one of the big machines himself, selecting one of the most daring army pilots on the field.

The second machine will be in charge of Captain J. R. McCally, first assistant to Colonel Duncan and he has also phoned Manager Appleyard, with whom he is personally acquainted, that he will bring along one of Uncle Sam's best birdmen.

The army planes will give an exhibition of fancy flying and the noted army officers will be guests of the fair and of the city of Newark while here. Watch for them. It will be well worth the time to see these noted aviators in two of the best and swiftest machines from the Wright field.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELIN B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment. Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

GOOD PROGRAM OF ATHLETIC EVENTS HELD LABOR DAY

The Athletic events of Monday's Labor Day celebration, held on the Court house square, were a source of much interest. They were held under the direction of the Y. M. C. A.; Secretary Lender, assisted by Y members Crane, Christman, McCoy, Workman, and O'Hara put in the day preparing for them and running them off. The rope climbing stunt seemed to lead in popularity, followed by the pullup and high kick. Not many took part in the jumping events. A lively scramble took place when a football was thrown in a crowd of men and a reward offered to the man who would return it to the owner. Fifty men engaged in a tug-of-war, the winning side walking away with the losers, after a sudden break occurred in the lines of the enemy. The list following contains the names of winners of events. There were four classes, the 90, 110, 125 and 140.

Rope-climb. Fred Alsbach and Otto McDonald, 10 seconds apiece in the 90 class; Robt. Lytle, 12 sec. in the 110 class; Chas. Bobe and Fred Schmal, 7 seconds apiece in the 125 class; John Osburn, 5 seconds in the 140 class. The above were the winners.

Carry! Pugh, 10 1-2; Carl Lewis, 12; John Goodlet, 13; and Geo. Hartman, Norval Smith and Thos. Jones, each 14 seconds in the 90 class was evidence of good work. Carl Tate and Earl Montgomery got to the top in 9 seconds each, and Leon Taylor, Jos. McNeerney and Jos. Naylor in ten seconds. Glenn O'Hara in the 140 class made the climb in 7 seconds.

Pull Up. Robert Dewey in the 90 class, 15 times; Willard Hill in the 110 class, 8 times; Fred Schenck in the 125 class, 22 times and Glen O'Hara in the 140 class, 17 times off honors in this event.

Other remarkable performances were: Carl Lewis, 11; Chas. Bobe, 17; Leon Taylor, 16; Earl Montgomery, 14; and Cloyd McCoy, 11 times.

High Kick. Winners: John Fabr, 90 class 59 inches; John Harbert, 110 class 70 inches; Earl Montgomery, 125 class 79 inches; and Albert Montgomery, 140 class 84 inches. Cloyd McCoy and Leon Taylor made a 78 inch kick which is good.

Running High Jump. Winners: Wilber Kercher, 90 class 42 inches; Jos. McNeerney, 125 class, 51 inches; Cloyd McCoy, 140 class, 54 inches. Montgomery in the 125 class raised himself 50 inches and Wm. Davis in the 90 class, 38 inches.

Running Broad Jump. winner, Theo. Bodel, 15 11 1-2 inches. Geo. Stuckey came a close second with 15 feet 5 in.; both were in the 140 class.

Stand Broad. Winner: Roy Engler, 9 feet 7 1-2 inches. Theo. Bodel came a close second with 9 feet 6 inches. Both were in the 140 class.

The bicycle races were not pulled off. Evidently not enough publicity was given this item of the program for not more than six or eight presented themselves for the race. Chief Sheridan had four officers on the course, and Secretary Lender with his aids were on time, but the advertising committee had somehow failed to get entries. This race will be run about eight ten days later, when the boys have been settled in school. Mr. Lender says there are several valuable prizes offered and he expects a good turn out when the race shall have been announced in a larger way.

Considering the size of the crowd, and the usual confusion attendant on unorganized gatherings, the committee is to be congratulated on the way everything came off. And then a benediction Providence is to be thanked for the day which was perfect.

RED OAK HILL.

Mrs. Eva Harris and Mrs. Frances Wilson called on Mrs. Anna Banks Tuesday.

Misses Beatrice and Olga Wilson visited Mrs. Frank Burrell Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Banks and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burrell were Newark visitors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Miller and daughter Mary spent Saturday night in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Bank and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Burrell spent Sunday with Mrs. Banks sister.

An Old Friend in a New Suit

The Government has asked manufacturers to conserve tin. It is needed in the manufacture of ammunition and in the packing of foodstuffs for the army.

So great is the demand for tin at the present time and so phenomenal has been the increase in the sales of Honey Moon tobacco that the can companies are unable to fill our requirements for tobacco cans.

After thoroughly testing many containers we have selected an air-tight, moisture-proof, Foil Package for our 10¢ container.

HONEY MOON

the friendly tobacco

This new 10¢ package is good looking and light in weight. It fits the pocket and the tobacco is easy to get at, for pipe or cigarette. It contains one and a half ounces (1 1/2 oz.) of the same good old Honey Moon—choice, mild, non-biting, fragrant Burley, aged for three years in the wood. No better tobacco for pipe or cigarette can be bought, no matter how much you pay.

As long as our limited supply of cans last, and as far as we are able to obtain new stock, we will continue to supply Honey Moon in cans—1 1/2 ounces for 15 cents.

Try Honey Moon—the friendly tobacco. It means a cool, satisfying smoke. Ask your dealer.

PATRIOTIC SONG OF LOCAL AUTHOR DRAWS BIG CROWD

Newark people were given a chance Sunday night to hear the patriotic song "Freedom For All" written by Mrs. Mary A. Jones, wife of W. M. Jones, Real Estate broker of the Lansing Block.

It was introduced at the Auditorium by Mr. Thomas Murray, noted dramatic tenor, who very successfully sang the entire song which consists of three verses and chorus, being called back several times by the enthusiastic applause of the audience.

This special feature had been advertised in the papers by Manager Fenberg of the Auditorium, and drew one of the largest crowds of the season. Mrs. Jones is well known in this vicinity, having been associated with her husband in the real estate business for several years.

Mr. Thomas Murray is also well known in Newark, having appeared here on several occasions. Mr. Murray, who is considered an exceptional music critic, stated that he considers this one of the best patriotic numbers yet written and that it possesses unusual harmony. He will feature this song at every engagement during this season's concert tour.

Mrs. Jones has had several very tempting offers from music publishers but as yet has not made any definite decision. She has placed a limited number of piano copies and orchestral arrangements with C. L. Yockey, music dealer of North Fourth street.

HUNDREDS RECEIVE SUGAR CERTIFICATES

Classes and masses intermingled on the stairways and in the hallways of the mayor's office from an early hour Tuesday morning in an effort to secure sugar certificates.

Hundreds of people were in line, at 8 o'clock this morning the line extended down onto the street. They passed rapidly through the mayor's office where the certificates were given out. The new certificates are for the 10 pounds of sugar for canning purposes. The distribution will continue until the sugar slips are exhausted.

AMUSEMENTS

GEM.

In "The Apostle of Vengeance," Till angle Feature which will be seen at the Gem theatre, Thursday, William S. Hart is seen in a story of the Cumberland mountains.

"The Apostle of Vengeance" a drama from the pen of Monte M. Katterjohn is a tale of Kentucky mountain feudists and has been handled with the realism characteristic of Triangle productions. Its many tense scenes are framed in settings of unusual picturesqueness, thus combining two of the most important elements in photoplay production.

Hart is cast as David Hudson, a minister who is the oldest son of a sturdy Kentucky mountaineer.

ALHAMBRA

The postal authorities of New York City placed on the list of advertised letters the name of a certain May Eccentric last week. The unusualness of the name attracted attention of interested parties who scanned the lists posted on the bulletin boards. Some one wrote a certain well known photoplay actress that he thought the name was a misnomer, for her own, being the closest guess of which a faltering memory was capable. The actress followed up the suggestion and, sure enough, found that she had not taken the trouble in vain.

"Main 1-2-3" will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday at the Alhambra theatre, and this theatre is delighted to be able to present such superlatively good comedy to its audiences.

Friday and Saturday.
She lived in a "house of gold" did Pamela Martin, everything that a girl could desire was hers, yet she was not happy. The cares of this household weighed heavily on her shoulders. She did not have to work with her dainty, white hands, but she had to be a perpetual hostess and wear wonderful gowns for the pleasure of her husband. Why did she marry him? Why wasn't she happy in her life of luxury?

AUDITORIUM.
The Whip
The most terrific catastrophe that has ever been known in this section of the country was planned and executed because of a bet made at the Saratoga Race Track on the famous race horse known as "The Whip." Because it was learned at a late hour that "The Whip" was almost sure to win the great handicap, a conspiracy was put on foot to destroy the horse before it could reach the race track. "The Whip" was being taken to Saratoga in a box car attached to the rear end of the Overland Special but was detached from the train and left standing in the path of the fast Saratoga Express without lights or safety signals. Speeding along at terrific speed the Saratoga Express hurled itself into the car before the engineer had an opportunity to put on the brakes, and the entire train, a big Mogul engine and eight passenger coaches, was thrown over a steep embankment to its doom.

This is one of the thrilling moments in what is conceded by the large crowds who have attended this theatre for the past two days, the greatest screen feature that has been shown at the Auditorium since the showing of "The Birth of a Nation." "The Whip" is sure a thriller and the last chance for Newark picture fans to see it will be had this evening. If you cannot be at the theatre exactly at 8:30 starting time, you can see the beginning by going at 8:45, as the last show starts nearly at that hour. Remember tonight last times.

Vivian Martin.
Vivian Martin, who is to star in "A Petticoat Plot," the story of a mount photoplay by Joseph C. Lincoln at the Auditorium Theatre tomorrow, was born in Grand Rapids, Michigan, about two years ago. She has been appearing on the stage more or less all her life, having begun at the tender age of six when she played with Richard Mansfield in the celebrated French play, "Cyrano de Bergerac," in Boston.

as "Capt'n Ed," "The Depot Master," "Women Haters" and others. During the course of "A Petticoat Plot," Miss Martin, famed for her pretty frocks, has occasion to grow from girlishness to daintiness, frocks of Georgette and her gowns in the second part of her picture will highlight the feminine charm of her attitudes.

The engagement is for two days.

The Girl Without a Chance.
The lovers of the spoken drama, the announcement of the appearance for two performances on next Saturday of Robert Sherman's dramatic sensation "The Girl Without a Chance" will be glad news. The coming season will not see many road attractions, for the fact that there will not be many on the road. The Auditorium management has a number looked, this being the first. "The Girl Without a Chance" played Newark last year to good houses and left no doubt good crowds will see it here at both the matinee and evening performances Saturday next. The management offers a popular priced matinee, at which children will be admitted for Ten Cents (A Coupon in this paper will save you money), adults at Twenty-Five Plus War Tax. A good story is told in this play and one that should be heard by all. Whitney Collins, the author, has not hesitated in speaking the plain truth and what we should have their daughter their son, in fact all should see "The Girl Without a Chance" at the Auditorium next Saturday afternoon and evening.

Howe's Pictures.
Lyman H. Howe whose newest Travel Festival, comes to the Auditorium for a two day engagement, starting on next Tuesday lays claim to the distinction of being America's first exhibitor.

Mr. Howe first became interested in motion pictures when Thomas A. Edison's primitive kinesiograph was exhibited at the Chicago Exposition. In 1894 he took his first Travel Festival on tour. At that time even the crudest form of motion picture there had no year appeared. When Mr. Howe started, the average length of a picture was between 15 and 20 feet, running but a few seconds. The pictures in the main were primitive travel scenes, as glimpses of waves beating on seacoast rocks and of foreign streets. A long step indeed, from the Howe entertainment of the present when the Travel Festival takes audiences upon extended tours of a whole land.
